Newcomers Spice Spring Comedy

'I Like It Here' Begins Run On Thursday

With the birds chirping and bees buzzing in seasonal spring, "I Like It Here," a delightful comedy, brings the Y campus a rib-tickling performance beginning Thursday, April 5, at College Hall for three nights.

The play, the fifth of the 1950-51 season, is under the direction of Morris M. Clinger, assistant professor of speech at the Brigham Young University, while staging is under the guidance of Preston Gedhild, also assistant professor of speech at BYU. Capable Mrs. Mona Kirkham is acting as the student assistant director.

The cast, made up of both veterans and new comers to the University stage, is headed by Dan Leegant, New York City, who plays the part of food-artist, lovable Willie Kringle. Two other veterans of many of the comedies produced at College Hall are Florence Stocks, Long Beach, Calif., and Leonard Rowley, Farouham, who will portray the roles of the college professor and his wearer-of-the-hat wife, Mr. and Mrs. Merriweather.

Newcomers to the BYU stage, LaRee Hales, Provo, and Chet Harris, Independence, Mo., will have the juvenile roles of the two lovers, sweet Laura Merriweather and fascinating Brad Monroe, in this romantic and humorous staging. Other supporting members are Richard Franko, Brigham, Mary Ann Sorensen, and Lloyd Webb.

Advance sales for this production started yesterday at the College Hall ticket office and will continue through the shrubbery day from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Price of admission is 75 cents to the public and 50 cents to students.

Perry Department Plans New Campus Labs

Spring has sprung, winter has went, and the Buildings and Grounds department is busy planning improvements for the campus which are best done on balmy days.

According to Mr. Perry, head of Buildings and Grounds, a sidewalk eastward from the Fieldhouse and connecting with the east and center wings of the North building will be laid as soon as the weather permits. There will be no freezing nights.

Lawn will soon be planted west of campus and the shrubbery will be set out along the road across from the speech center to the new screen for the equipment stockade.

A three-room walk-in refrigerator has been built just outside the kitchen of Campus Dining. The inside is now completed and the outside will soon be finished the same as the dorm.

UNIVERSE PLANS SPECIAL SPORTS EDITION

The largest college newspaper ever published in Utah will be distributed to Brigham Young University students next Tuesday.

A twenty-four page UNIVERSE including a sixteen-page sports supplement will be published next week. The special edition will serve as the official program for the Utah Sports Chamber of Commerce banquet that will fete the Skyline and NIT champs next Tuesday evening.

Four pages of pictorial supplies will be included in the sports section. Comments by each of the Cougars will be a special feature to watch for.

Piano Duo Appears on Lyceum Tonight

An internationally renowned duo-piano team, Arthur Gold and Robert Fildale, will present the next program of the season's series tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the Provo tabernacle.

Since their debut in New York in 1946, when it was said of them, "duo-pianism reached heights hitherto unknown to the art," they have appeared extensively in concerts throughout America and Europe. When they appeared in Paris, these two composers came from three different countries to hear them perform, and they have had written especially for the pair.

The duo are strong exponents of modern music, for they feel that "it is only natural that music should be modern, and modern music should be played now." Many great Paul Bowles, Darius Milhaud, Maurice de Marigny, and Georges Riet, Germaine Tailleferre, Alex Haeft, and John Cage, have written works especially for them.

Their programs contain a combination of modern and classical music.

Arthur Gold was born in Toronto, Canada, and has studied with such musicians as Kohn, Reinold Stewart, and Josef Thevinne. Robert Fildale grew up in Chicago and has studied with Ethel Lyons, Louise Rabin, Howard Hanks, and Ernest Hutchinson.

The personalities of the two are very similar, but it has been said that the slight differences give their playing its variety and richness of texture and color and prevents their perfect synchronization from becoming mechanical.

As one critic says, "their piano playing could hardly be overpraised for subtlety of coloring, rhythmic alchemy, and highly personal ensemble." And another describes them as "the finest, the most musically sensitive, the most perfectly executed two-piano playing I have heard since Gabilowitch and Bauer."

Amazed Scribe Awed
With Wonder of Science

by Ford Paulson

Our weary eyes, weakened by months of pouring over Bibles in small print, were dazzled at the first sight of the star-gazer's device, looking like a big blob of ice cream, atop the already-famous Science building.

When this unworthy scribe took leave of our institution, some 30 months ago, said Science building contained several acres of snow, with here and there a pile of rocks to complete the beauty of the scene.

Talk of additions to the BYU's buildings was highly popular as small talk, but in the more cynical circles, such "idle chatter" was greeted with great mirth and slapping of knees. Now who's laughing?

Anyway, it's great to come back to a BYU experiencing the growing pains of progress. How lucky was a guy he?

Introspective indeed was our first glimpse of the interior of above mentioned P. 2. Building, with its swinging metal doors, and the spacious lobby, complete with the centerpieces. It was here found as place in the sun, somewhat as the candle to the moth. That is, the more one is attracted to the thing, surround it, and are promptly themselves surrounded by the weaker (yet) members of the P. 2. population. But where is it?

They are striding through the long halls, noting the lighting of the trees, the artistic additions to the hallways, the floor, the holes, dips, or sways, as we're reminded from the days of old. But I can't find it!

The lecture rooms we have visited have nothing to be desired, where furniture and facilities are concerned, though we feel that those sliding blackboards should perhaps be operated hydraulically to save effect on the part of the faculty.

Still haven't found it! Train reports received from the messengers of atoms and the RSO, Jovian, and from our layman's observation, we conclude that the laboratory facilities are a pleasure to know-for-fear of the man to who derive pleasure from test tubes and friction boots. But where is it?

To see a long story short, we've tramped up and down all the stairs, we've enjoyed all the artistic qualities of the displayed paintings, we've sat through several lecture classes, we've scoured through the library, the laboratories, even the unfinished rooms.

We've looked behind the doors, under the test tube racks, in the wash basins, around all the pillars and points, into all the nooks and crannies. Impressed though we are, we still can't find it.

Please, oh please, won't somebody help me find the pencil sharpener??

Draft Deferrals

Temporarily, at least the college man who has been ordered until June can wait. President Truman, in his executive order of Saturday, provided draft deferments for the thousands whose scholastic standings are high, or who can pass prescribed tests.

It is now up to the youth in college to prove his worth as a student today, and as a potential warrior for his country tomorrow. The earliest possible date on which he can be examined is May 20.

Mr. Gen. Merabey, U. S. draft director, has stated that approximately 300,000 men have been deferred until June. Many of these will graduate and may be drafted after July. The military has reached the draft age during the school year. The Educational Testing Service, chosen to give the examinations, will make things as easy as possible. Local draft boards will ask simple questions which students may study prior to taking the tests.

"Hook or Crook"

International politicians are keeping an eye on Britain where Winston Churchill this week folded in an attempt to force an immediate election. Prime Minister Clement Attlee left his post just to reject the bid, at the same time decrying Churchill's efforts to get back into power "by hook or by crook."

In recent weeks, the Conservatives have spared no effort in attempts to gain the vote in Coten Wood. Working in shifts of fifty each, they have kept the House of Commons in session night after night as late as 1:30 a.m. The Labor government, with only a slim majority, may do well to remain in power throughout the summer.

Korean Conflict

In Korea, U. N. forces are encountering larger communist concentrations in some sectors as they probe across the 38th Parallel with tanks and infantry. Although light opposition has been encountered, it is known that a probable 180,000 enemy are grouped in the Northeast area. Heavy fighting is expected soon, when the Chinese spring offensive begins. An anticipated 300,000 communist soldiers will be thrown into battle, unless our force can break up conventional attacks and travel from Manchuria.

"If You're In Arizona ..."

Don, Utah
June 15, 1951

My Dear Jay,

I guess you are already wondering who this letter is from. I would rather not say right now but I do want you to know who I am later on.

I have liked you for a long time but since you did not know this I have never showed any signs. I knew you had a heart and that was what I began liking you. I saw you once in awhile this quarter but not as much as I would like to see you.

I want to tell you who I am but I think it would be best at this time if I didn't. You see I know there is another girl you like quite well and that is the main reason I would rather not say.

If you want to know who I am, why don't you meet me Thursday night January 18th at the top of the stairs by the sun deck. I shall see you at 8 o'clock. I hope you will not be disappointed but I think not.

I'll be waiting and hope you will do the same.

My love for man
until then!

Your admirer,

I don't mind so much if the girls want to write this kind of letter to me, but when they do, I wish they would show up. I sure caught a nasty cold.

Jay N. Lund

P. S. I am over my cold and warmer weather is clearing up; why don't we try it again?

DOWN the CLOTHES
HATCH

By Bob Hatch

They say it's spring. Spring means young love. And young love is born of competition. And so the "Clothes Hatch" takes great pleasure in presenting a short course for the would-be wooer of BYU. Follow this outline, and you can't go wrong.

1. GIVE YOUR GIRL A SERMON: First, let her know around waist. Draw her tight. Start to kiss her. When she says "Stop!" release her. Take advantage on face.

Using this line of attack you need never worry about becoming dull and stereotyped. She'll never know what she's getting of you.

2. GET IN STYLE: A pair of Walk-Over loafers is just the thing this spring. 3. TELL HER A FUNNY — The girls love to have their "knights" tickled. Use death-line material like this:

Three heralds lived in a cave and spent all day staring at the wall, never speaking. One day a stallion ran past the entrance of their cave. Six months later one herald mumbled, "That was a pretty brown another herald said, "That wasn't a brown horse. It was white."

About a year later the third herald got up and stalked toward the entrance of the cave. "It is talking to be the constant bickering," he said, "I'm leaving."

4. TALK ABOUT YOURSELF: When she gets well into the conversation, let her hear around on the ground after hearing the above yak. Have her see at your cotton socks (denial brand) that you purchased at Clark's for 65 and 45 cents. Be sure you get the socks before you tell the joke of this week's work.

Also you can cause her with your charity nature if you simply say, "Duhuh, as I am buying 25 more pairs of deep-tinted cotton socks as soon as my substance check comes in. Den I can get Clark boys lucky 13 size, y'know." (These lines should be delivered in your best Red Skelton manner for maximum effectiveness.)

5. AND REMEMBER AT ALL TIMES: That while every man has his wit, only the woman has his pick.

How!

And there you have it, men. Hatch's short-course on successful wooing. Clip this and paste it in your dashboard for easy reference.

Am coming to the conclusion that you are getting this course at a bargain. And a bargain is a good buy. A good buy is a bargain. A bargain is to leave. After trying these ideas on your girl she will be so wise that she will have no bargain anyway.

Campus life has certainly changed these past 100 years. Back in 1851 there were only 160 colleges in the entire country. Today, there are 1,849. No Rose Bowl game at the end of the football season in those days. No football season as a matter of fact. Open surveys were standard equipment of college Romeos—there wasn't a cream-colored convertible on the landscape. It was then, a century ago, that Arrow started manufacturing their famous collars and in a few years they were setting campus styles. That's one thing that hasn't changed. Arrow is still style leader on America's campuses. College men everywhere know that the Arrow label always stands for smart styles, fine fabrics, meticulous tailoring... the superior quality that reflects good taste.

LMOC, Aides Revealed at Universe Ball

Moss Fluke, Professor Bryant Jacobs and Betty Ann Green emerged from the UNIVERSE LMOC dance Friday night as Bitter's famous characters. Worthal, Professor Snarf and Freda. Sailing was rip and tack all the way. Until Professor Jacobs appeared decked out for battle in complete miners garb, it seemed a sure thing to bet on Dr. T. Earl Fardoe as campus favorite for Snarf. But with a few blinks of his miners lantern, Prof. Jacobs changed the minds of many people and won by a landslide.

Though not on the ballot, Professor M. Wilford Poulson was a strong contender for the Snarf crown.

For both Worthal and Freda the count was close. Students apparently considered Dick Fluke almost as little on campus as Moss Fluke. Beverly Anderson ran almost neck and neck with Betty Ann Green.

The intermission was a conglomeration of pistol shots exchanged in a chain battle between Red Fillmore and Dick Fluke, whip cracking by editor Larry Topping, and (frost) beer and portwine consumed by all present.

"GIVE ME STRENGTH" mutters Betty Ann Green, BYU's counterpart of Bitter's campus queen, Freda, as Ken "Moss" Fluke makes like the famous Worthal, under the watchful eyes of Professor Snarf (Dr. Bryant Jacobs). The trio was crowned during intermission activities Friday.

University Appoints Physician; Dr. Bourne Replaces Madsen

Appointment of Dr. John T. Bourne as Brigham Young University physician by the school's board of trustees was announced recently by Dr. Vance M. Tanner, student health service chairman.

Dr. Bourne brings with him to BYU an excellent background as a practitioner and as a public health specialist, Dr. Tanner said. Born in Salt Lake City of pioneer stock, Dr. Bourne was educated in Salt Lake public schools, at the West high school and at the LDS Junior college.

He did his first two years of medical study at the University of Utah, then transferred to George Washington University, Washington, D. C., from where he received his M.D. degree. He then served a two year internship at the LDS hospital in Salt Lake City.

After two years of private practice, he entered the U. S. army and had five years of service as an army physician, much of it overseas in Europe.
